;; ; [Chinese shoes Network - Brand News] According to reports, the German sportswear giant Adidas (Adidas store) to split production orders in Chinese factories to reduce its Guangdong foundries Dongguan Yue Yuan shoe factory strike impact on the production of sports shoes. Last week, workers in Dongguan Yue Yuen shoe factory due to the presence of social security, inadequate fund deposit and other issues strike. Shoe factory management side said is true. Local relevant government departments have been coordinating in the hope that the shoe can return to work as early as possible to reduce the Nike (Nike store), Adidas sneakers customer orders production schedule.

Adidas spokesman said this week, Adidas will not stop cooperation with Yue Yuen factories. "But in order to reduce the impact on our sales of sports shoes to the maximum extent, the recent part of the original company Yue Yuen factory orders will split into other OEM factory go." The spokesman said.

2012 In July 2009, subject to factors affecting the rising labor costs, Adidas to close its only factory in Jiangsu in China directly under the table 开始 a comprehensive transformation to low-cost contract manufacturing. Adidas currently has 300 foundries in China, and employs more than 300,000 people involved. Some commentators believe that a low-cost contract manufacturing cost is caused by one of the major foundries emerging labor disputes.
